

PFML Implementation Professional

The American Council of Life Insurers seeks a dynamic individual who will be responsible for all state-level implementation and regulation issues, and coordination with our State Relations department to assure strong policy positions affecting state-based paid family and medical leave programs and regulations. This person will provide technical and substantive assistance and support to member companies and ACLI colleagues and be the ACLI policy expert in meetings with state legislators, regulators and administrative departments that are responsible for developing, implementing and modifying state-run paid leave programs.

Ideal candidate will have a Bachelor's Degree in Political Science, Business, Pre-Law, Risk and Insurance, or related field. Graduate degree or Law degree preferred but not required. At least seven years of relevant experience including minimum of three years of management experience. Extensive knowledge of and experience in the paid leave insurance and/or paid leave administration field, including experience and knowledge of FMLA and other federal and state leave requirements and program management details. Experience interacting with policymakers implementing PFML programs in states. Strong analytical and communication skills. Considerable ability to transform the highly complex paid leave program issues and arguments into technically accurate written documents and presentations that are understandable and persuasive. Ability to establish and maintain trusted working relationships with policymakers and colleagues. Ability to lead and participate in teams.
